Dear Mr. Latta,

3/9/75

Reasonable people can't disagree with what you say of Belin.
But reasonable people won't have a chance to hear it, as they didn't mpst plaes about the Rockefeller commission's members. I tried to get the press interested.

The ppers I get didn't carry the stories you sent as part of your letter. If you can spare me a copy of each for separate filing I'd ~~it~~ appreciate it.

In fct the more conservative papers often carry stories not in those generally considered "liberal."

Your analysis of Belin's state of mind is good. I'd add to it the probability that this is the only way he can reconcile with his rightwing beliefs. The rational part of his mind rejects otherwise.

What he says means he never really knew what he was talking about. Not even so short a period after his book that is supposed to be the result of so much heard and diligent work. He is in case after case not even consistent with his own Commission's evidence.

And to sy that others haven t spent the time going over that evi= dence is past ridiculousness. I've probably spent more time than all ccounsel put together. This alone speaks much of his rationality if not a lso his integrity.

Thanks and best,
